Visit museums

Google Arts and Culture partnered with over 2,500 museums and galleries around the world to offer virtual tours of their spaces. Some of the options include New York's Museum of Modern Art and Amsterdam's Van Gogh Museum. The Louvre, based in Paris, is also offering its own virtual tour online for free.

Explore national parks

For those who want to surround themselves with nature without the traveling and going-outside aspect of it all, national parks are also providing virtual tours of America's most popular parks. Virtual visitors can travel through the trails of Yellowstone National Park, as well as the Yosemite National Park.

Visit the zoo

The Cincinnati Zoo-The Zoo plans to offer Home Safari Facebook Lives seven days a week!

To watch live, just visit the Zoo's Facebook page at 3pm.-The first starts on March 16th and will feature the world's most famous hippo, Fiona. The Zoo will also post the safaris on its website and on YouTube so everyone can view.

"We're bringing the Zoo to people who are stuck at home," said Cincinnati Zoo Director Thane Maynard. "This Zoo is so important to the community and not being able to visit will create a void that we're trying to fill. The goal with the daily live sessions is to provide fun and educational content to people who are stuck at home."

Other Zoos

Some people count on the company of a furry friend at home, but others rely on spaces on the outside world to view them. Thankfully, spaces like the San Diego Zoo, the Georgia Aquarium and the Monterey Bay Aquarium are offering live webcam viewings of pandas, penguins and beluga whales.

Tour the Great Wall of China

Trips all around the world were undoubtedly canceled amid the COVID-19 outbreak, but a tour of the Great Wall of China is available for anyone who's ever wanted to visit this wonder of the world.

Get yourself to Mars

International trips are one thing, but, if you're feeling a bit more adventurous, you can take a virtual trip to Mars. NASA partnered with Google to offer a tour of a 3D replica of the Martian surface recorded by the Curiosity rover.
